Why Choose a CAA Membership?

Video Message from CAA President on CAA Membership

Listen to CAA President, Patricia Auger as she highlights the benefits, resources, and professional supports a CAA membership provides its members. From exclusive continuing education opportunities and member-only resources to advocacy initiatives and networking opportunities, this video outlines how CAA membership strengthens professional growth, clinical excellence, and the collective voice of audiologists.

Message from CAA President Elect

CAA Membership Endorsement by CAA President-Elect, Sarah Wilson

Being a member of the Canadian Academy of Audiology is about more than individual professional growth or access to high-quality clinical resources- it's about belonging to a national network of audiologists who understand the shared challenges and successes of our work and who are committed to advancing hearing health together. Through practical clinical and marketing tools, national public awareness initiatives, strong advocacy led by audiologists, and accessible education opportunities, CAA provides a unified voice for our profession. When you join CAA, you're not just strengthening your own practice—you're contributing to the collective strength and identity of audiology across Canada.
