Editor’s Corner – should be top of everyone’s reading list

Thanks to the contributions to CanadianAudiologist.ca by Canadian and international researchers, we have a number of excellent well-thought out articles that should be on top of everyone’s reading or re-reading list. In some cases these are cutting edge research articles, and in other cases are excellent overviews of complex areas of audiology, where perhaps we don’t normally tread.

Steve Aiken, our Associate Editor and I have gone through the many years of CanadianAudiologist.ca and have selected a number of articles that should be at everyone’s finger tips for either quick reference or background material. Watch for new additions every several months.
